MORE DOCKS.

The Bateman Legacy and Madero Docks have not cured our legislators of the mania for squandering money. A project is now under discussion to spend £300,000 sterling or $5,000,000 currency on a dry-dock, in connection with the present incomplete port works, which have already cost £4,000,000 sterling or $66,000,000 currency.

If the dry-dock were an indispensable part of the Port Works how is it that it was not included in Sir John Hawkshaw's plans? If not indispensable why is the Treasury to be called on for so large a disbursement when the financial condition of the country is below par? Congress may over-rule our objections and order the construction of the proposed dock, but we are at a loss to conjecture where the money is to come from. The proposers of the scheme will perhaps say that for the present it is sufficient to pass the concession, and the means may be devised at some future day.

But, experience shews us that in all matters of this kind there is a snake in the grass, and we do not hesitate to predict that if this new Dock and the new Boulevard and some other modes of spending money receive legislative sanction, a very determined effort will be made next year to bring about fresh issues of shinplasters. We need only point to the new National Bank as a case in point, the creation of which has entailed a fresh issue, but for which the gold premium to-day would be much lower than it is.

It may not be very desirable to see a sudden fall in the price of gold, but it is essential for the welfare of the country that there should be no further depreciation of the currency, and hence we must offer the most vigorous opposition to any scheme that would bring us within measurable distance of another avalanche of shinplasters.

There is no sane man in Buenos Ayres who entertains for a moment the idea that this vote of £300,000 sterling for a dry dock can be defrayed out of the ordinary revenue- We see in the Finance report for 1891 that the expenditure last year was as follows—

	$ currency		$ gold
Interior.....	16,222,000	and	7,853,000
F. Affairs...	895,000	"	365,000
Finance.....	7.227,000	"	12,201,000
Instruction..	7,613,000	"	—
Army.....	10,247,000	"	—
Navy.....	4,036,000	"	1,223,000
Total...	46.240,000	"	21,642,000

Reducing gold to currency at $360 we find the gold expenditure amounted to $77,912,000 currency, bringing up the total for the year to $124,152,000 currency, whereas the revenue was only $75,501,000, leaving a deficit of nearly 50 millions. We expect the revenue for 1892 may reach $90.000,000, but we greatly fear that the expenditure may exceed this amount. At all events the bare idea of spending $5,000,000 currency on a dry dock fills us with apprehension of a most reckless system of finances.

WATER RATES.

The tax-collector is now making his rounds, and the public has an opportunity of comprehending the enormous burthen imposed on the city by the Bateman Legacy. It is proposed by the present tax to procure a revenue sufficient to pay interest on an outlay (fictitious) of £6,000,000, say £400,000 sterling or 6,600,000$ currency. This implies an average tax of 15$ monthly on each house in the city, payable by the occupier. A direct tax of this magnitude is appalling, for it is almost equal to the total municipal revenue of Buenos Ayres, and is exactly double the amount of Contribucion which the owners of house-property have to pay. In plain Spanish this may be termed Ley de Embudo, for the millionaires are let off comparatively easy, and the hard-working tenant is pressed down to the ground.

A few days ago Mr. Seeber endeavored to shew that the public was lightly taxed. If by the public he meant the millionaires he was certainly right, but as regards the thousands who toil for daily bread his assertion is the reverse of true.

Cheap and wholesome water-supply is a blessing, but the Bateman Legacy affords us water of a questionable character at a prodigious cost. The supply averages 11,000,000 gallons daily, say 20 gallons per inhabitant at a cost of $3,600,000 or $12 per head. Let us compare this with some other cities:

	Per inhabitant. Gallons daily.	Cost yearly. $ gold
B. Ayres...	20	3·70
London...	38	1·75
N. York...	88	1·10
Marseilles	60	1·60
Glasgow...	50	2·00

The annual cost of a supply of 20 gallons per inhabitant ought not to be more than one gold dollar yearly. And here it is well to bear in mind that the original cost of the Bateman Works as voted by Congress was only £2,000,000 sterling, which, if it had not been exceeded, would have entailed on our city an annual tax of only £120,000 or $2,000,000 currency, or one-third of the sum which it is now sought to collect.

The public resists the payment of so enormous a rate, and the Government will perhaps find it necessary to make a very great reduction. At the last opening of Congress President Pellegrini congratulated the citizens of Buenos Ayres on the fact that the Government, by cancelling the Water-works concession held by Baring Brothers, had rescued them from an imposition of the most tyrannical kind. If this be so we must conclude that the concession was a nefarious plot against our city, and that any attempt to carry out the wholesale plunder of Buenos Ayres would have been attended with ruin and possibly bloodshed.

But, we can see little reason to rejoice in the present tariff, which is meant to levy $12 yearly per inhabitant, for no other reason than that a sum of £6,000,000 sterling has been spent instead of the original estimate of £2,000,000. We have not yet heard the last of the Bateman Legacy.

PROVINCIAL NEWS.

Mr. Carlos Lix-Klett, the active and energetic chairman of the Argentine Chicago Exhibition Committee, writes to us as follows from Mendoza, under date Sept. 10:—

Faithful to promise, I send you some information for the STANDARD. I am glad I came up here, as I have succeeded in getting a collection of wines for the Exhibition. The "Trapiche," Mr. Benegas's famous vineyard, and all the other principal establishments have enthusiastically come forward, and you may say that 20 of them will figure at the Exhibition. I may tell you also that Dr. Salas has promised to send samples of coal. All these exhibits will be displayed at the preliminary exhibition in Buenos Ayres. Dr. Zelaya, owner of the Santa Elena Copper Mine, has promised samples of copper. Mr. Reta has promised samples from his coal, gold and silver mines. They all send plans and sketches. The Petroleum Company will also contribute. I may say that the cattle-industry, the agriculture, the vine-culture and the mines of Mendoza will be well represented at the coming Exhibition. In all, Mendoza supplies a contingent of 150 exhibitors.

I have gone from house to house and succeeded in overcoming that vis inertiæ which is the great difficulty we have to surmount in getting up an exhibition, and I am pleased to think that my efforts have been attended with great success. In my frequent journeys here and there I have picked up the following particulars in reference to agriculture: Sowing is over in the department of Tunuyan, although there is a large area yet which has not been sown. The season, however, is too advanced now. In 25 de Mayo there are 2464 acres under wheat. It snowed here three days consecutively and cattle are very thin, grass being scarce. In Maipu the plantations are in excellent condition. The vine-yards in this department are rapidly extending. In 9 de Julio there have been heavy frosts. There are 1200 acres under wheat. In Guaymallen the grape crop has been very poor, not reaching 25% of last year's yield The locusts damaged the vineyards last season..

I made a trip over the Transandine Railway, to Rio Blanco kilo. 121. It is solidly built, but the trains travel very slowly.

On Wednesday I return to Buenos Ayres.

Yours sincerely,
Carlos Lix-Klett.

Our learned Cordobese friends are waxing angry about the San Roque Reservoir, in reference to which we made some extracts from Engineer Stavelius's report. That report shewed the Reservoir to be theoretically safe but practically unsound—a River Plate way of beating round the bush. The result is that an action is to be brought against the contractors, who will find out that they cannot disturb the beautiful equanimity of the Cordobese mind with impunity. We believe the engineer who planned the Reservoir is in Paris. However, as the dam is theoretically safe we suppose he has practically nothing to do with the present case. This charming distinction between theory and practice is taking very well up there, and the Cordoba Free Bank, which is practically burst up, is paying theoretic dividends.

OUR PARIS LETTER.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Paris, 6th. August.

The Conseils Generaux are the county Councils of France; there is one Council for every department, and the members are elected by the local municipalities. It is a position highly prized, it is the stepping stone to the Senate and the Chamber of Deputies, and a nursery for the training of functionaries. These Councillors thus control in a great measure the political machinery of the country. The elections have just taken place for these councils. Though not supposed to be political, they are so, and hence the importance of the vote recording the absolute and definite triumph of the Republic. The relics of monarchy and the debris of Boulangism have been swept away. Only three County Councils in France have at present an anti-republican majority. In presence of this actuality, the maintenance of dynastic pretentions is a mockery, a delusion, and a snare. So fully do the Comte de Paris and Prince Napoleon consider their 'shams' to be exploded, that they leave to Don Carlos, the 'claimant', to the Comte de Chambord's divine and white flag rights, a simple walk-over in the race—and that he declines.

His Holiness has both lost and won at these elections; he has triumphed in seeing his view of home politics ratified by the suffrage that France has definitely accepted the republican form of Government. But he has lost in counting upon the monarchists, who following his bidding, gave an eleventh hour adhesion to the exciting contention, being received with open arms by the true blue republicans. The latter have rejected the non-republican candidates all along the line, and are not at all in a pardoning mood towards monarchists who gave their votes and millions of francs to throw Boulangism at the Republic. For the moment then the converts must do penance and undergo a retreat.

The socialist movement marks no advance; no two persons appear to have the same view about socialism, that which may explain why everyone wishes it well. In a word, it is the fashionable shibboleth. But the moment it is attempted to concrete its programme, bang down comes the structure like a house of cards. Socialism creates noise in France, but no danger; conservatism, that is the possession of some property secured out of the savings of industry, has too many supporters to indulge in wild schemes for the regeneration of the idle and the thiftless save by assiduous labor and frugality. The seven millions of peasants will defend to the death their acres or square metres of land, and in the case of industry equally fractioned, there is one employer for every three employés. Anarchy is a thing apart, it raises its hand against every man, and now every man is screwing up courage to raise his hand against it. Excepting the questions of old age pensions, insurance against accidents to workmen, with every rational facility for labor to cooperate in its own betterment, legislation can advance no further.

A curious agitation has been sprung upon public opinion, that to oppose the re-election of M. Carnot to the presidency. It is generally believed that he does not covet the honor—but others want to step into his shoes. The only rival that can be in a hurry is M. de Freycinet, whose advancing years will not permit him to wait. Indeed, the agitation seems to demand the insertion of an amendment in the Constitution, declaring presidents ineligible for re-election; some would go farther and limit the duration of the term of office to seven, instead of four years. No one can raise a finger against the manner M. Carnot has discharged his functions; perhaps his excellence is a drawback. Miltiades laboured under the accusation of being—just. The advanced organs that are trying to crack up the agitation must be excused on account of the season—which has arrived at its "silly" stage.

In a few days, the 10th inst., the most ardent republicans will celebrate that date, as the jubilee of the abolition of monarchy in France. The Government takes no part in the centenary; the municipalities alone are working up the festival. Oratory, banquet, and ball is the programme; the ball is to enable the hottest democrats "to dance on the "débris" of feudalism.' It is on the 22nd September that the Government will celebrate the centenary of the official proclamation of the First Republic; it will be a small edition of a Fourteenth of July, and will be interpreted by a historical cavalcade. Public opinion takes less and less interest in these events; it did so when the Republic was fighting for its existence. There is no struggle now, so the spice of a battle is lacking. Many would prefer to see the sums expended on these extra fêtes, devoted to an augmentation of the salaries of the small officials.

THE LOSS OF THE ROSALES.

(FROM THE Nacion.)

The revelations we made in our last have caused a profound sensation, although it is quite evident that neither the public nor the press looked upon our statements as anything new, for what we stated was merely the condensation of a rumor which has been floating in the atmosphere for some time past. We must confess, however, that we were mistaken when we attributed these statements to Batalla or Bataglia, the ex stoker of the Rosales. The real Bataglia was arrested in this city and is at present in the Prefectura Maritima, but it appears that while he was at liberty he made more or less the same disclosures to several people. Amongst the latter must have been the sailor employed in the Sub-Prefectura of La Plata, who disappeared the night before last, very probably fearing that he would be arrested. But we may rest assured that he will soon be caught. This, however, does not alter the substance of the case. Whether the disclosures come from the real Bataglia or any other source, the public are criticizing the circumstances of the loss of the Rosales. Some people are of opinion that no importance should be attached to the rumors flying about. We are not of that opinion. If there have been crime it must be punished, and if there have been no crime, then publicity need not be feared.

Yesterday we sent several reporters to La Plata to find out more particulars of the sailor who made the disclosures. He has disappeared, as already stated, but he appears to have related the same story, with many other details, to a number of people. The police are on his track.

Yesterday we visited the real Bataglia, who is under arrest in the Prefectura Maritima We questioned him and he told us that not having received his pay, he had no money and had to turn his hand to something to make a living. He became cook in the brewery at 350 Calle Caridad, while awaiting an opportunity of resuming his position as stoker. He says he cannot understand why it was thought that he had run away, considering that only a few days ago he presented himself to the Commissary of Marine, Mr. Salerno, and gave him his address. Besides, his former address had been registered in the Comisaria. He told us that on Monday last, a policeman went to the brewery and asked him if he was a deserter from the Rosales. Upon his replying that he was one of the survivors, he was arrested and conveyed to the Prefectura Maritima.

We asked him if he had related any of the circumstances of the loss of the Rosales, and he answered that he would only speak on that subject in the presence of the Fiscal.

Lt. Mohorade, one of the officers of the Rossles, has applied to the Estado Mayor de Marina for an immediate inquiry into the statements made by Bataglia, as he qualifies them as libellous.

One of our reporters, who went yesterday to La Plata, informs us that the false Bataglia insisted that all he related was true, and even went so far as to show some people the wound he received when attempting to enter the officers' boat.

The Prensa publishes the substance of an interview with Captain Funes, who was in command of the Rosales. Captain Funes stated that for the moment his lips were sealed. He could not speak until the "sumario" had been finished. He deplored, however, that such wild rumours should have found an echo in the press, casting a slur on the name and reputation of officers and gentlemen, who are made to appear as infamous criminals—"and all because a sailor turns up in La Plata and, making himself out to be one of the crew of the Rosales; relates a wild story, which the press reproduces, regardless of the reputation of those who are thus affected by the breath of suspicion.

THE JULY-STORM.

The following extracts from a letter by a passenger on board the Italian steamer Mateo Bruzzo, which was caught in the same gale which proved fatal to the Rosales, will be read with interest:—

The day we left Montevideo in the tug to go on board the Mateo Bruzzo, the sea was very rough. A young man, 24 to 25 years of age, seated beside me, was crying like a child. He had a presentiment we were going to be shipwrecked. His father, he told me, had perished in a shipwreck. We were soon on board the Mateo, which is a splendid vessel, and here I may tell you that but for her well-tested seaworthy qualities we should all be at the bottom of the sea at this moment. Rough as it was the day we started, it was nothing to what was in store for us. The steamer rolled so much on the following day that we could not sit at table. Suddenly the sea became more agitated and the rolling and pitching of the vessel became more violent. In a few minutes the hurricane was upon us. I rushed down the gangway. Chairs, tables and other articles of furniture were strewn about the saloon. Women and children were shrieking, and in a corner were Monseigneur Cagliero and 4 Salesian Fathers on their knees praying for the safety of the vessel. I managed to creep on all fours to my cabin. I thought the vessel was going to pieces. Some time after this, the hurricane abated and I managed to get up on deck. The sailors told me they had never been in such a storm. It appears that it was not one, but three successive hurricanes which had caught us. We had been carried away to near the Cape of Good Hope. We saw debris in great number floating about. There must have been a good many wrecks caused by this triple tempest. I won't stop to tell you of the scenes I witnessed on board during the storm, of the passengers putting on their life belts, of others getting drunk etc. The bullocks and sheep that we had on board were killed by the violence of the rocking and washed overboard by the waves. We have been 20 days without meat and five days without eating. We are all exhausted. No less than eight vessels are supposed to have been lost.

OBSERVANCE OF SUNDAY.

The Clergy of the Anglican Church view with great regret and anxiety the increasing tendency among the English-speaking Residents in the River Plate to ignore the primary duty and obligation of Divine Worship upon the Sunday, and desire earnestly to make some attempt to lay before their congregations the importance of this duty, and the Divine necessity which is laid upon them in this matter.

Sermons will, therefore, be preached in all the Anglican Churches on the XIVth Sunday after Trinity (Sept. 18), and a special appeal made to public opinion in this matter, with the immediate purpose of forming a League or Society, of which the members shall engage themselves to observe and forward the observance by others of the primary Christian duty of Divine Worship on Sunday.

SANITATION FOR MONTEVIDEO.

At the first alarm of the invasion of any epidemic from abroad, the authorities resort to an antiquated system of quarantine, the efficacy of which is very doubtful. But once the invader has broken through the fragile cordon thus established, the country is practically at his mercy, for of further preparations to fight the foe there are few, if any. Now experience has proved again and again that zymotic epidemics, such as Cholera, must be fought from within as well as without, by attention to sanitary regulations and clean and healthy living. The improved sanitary conditions of most English cities have enabled them to defy any serious epidemic of cholera for many years past. Montevideo, with its beautiful situation and enormons natural advantages should be one of the healthiest cities in the world, but is not, for want of attention to sanitation. Considering the small population the proportion of zymotic diseases is monstrously high. The deaths from small-pox, diphtheria and typhoid are perhaps as numeuous as those in London, with twenty five times the population. For this there must be a reason and a preventible cause. We think then, that it would be well for the Health Authorities to divert some of the exaggerated anxiety they show in imposing quarantine to attending to interior matters. Let them be prepared not only to keep the intruder out, but to fight him should be effect an entrance. Let them promulgate habits of cleanliness among the people, teaching them the value of soap, water and whitewash inside the houses as well as out. Let them persuade the builders that light, air and ventilation, at present neglected, are absolute necesities for healthy houses and rooms. Let them have a more careful eye to the foul "algibes" or wells, so frequently built next to the drains and cesspools. Let them close the dirty, stinking, "tambos" and stables which exist in the city, some of them so offensive that they cannot be passed without holding one's nose, and for the clearing out of which an order was given long ago. And, above all, let them make uncompromising war on the present indescribably filthy and revolting system of latrines. We will not disgust our readers by further reference to these, but those who have had the misfortune to inspect the back premises of many native houses, and of nearly all the hotels and restaurants, will know too well what we mean. Let the Authorities be as "grand motherly" and interfering as they like on these points, so long as they follow the dictates of common-sense and science we shall heartily support them. That every man's house is his castle is a fine theory, but no man can have the right to make of that castle a nest of infection, a hotbed for disease, and a source of danger to all his neighbours. To our thinking, it should be just as illegal for a man to have an offensive drain, a contaminated well, or a filthy house, as to keep a store of dynamite or nitro glycerine. In both cases he endangers the lives of others.—M. V. Times;

ABOUT THE LOCUSTS.

I observe in the "On 'Change" columns of to-day's STANDARD that a law is to be passed compelling all inhabitants of the country under sixty years of age to turn out and try to slaughter the locusts. I would kindly request that you answer one or two questions regarding this.

1st. Will this law apply to "escribanos," to carpenters and to all such like workmen who help to make this city look so busy and cheerful in these crisis-stricken times.

Or will it concern only the poor peons who, because they cannot stand against the law, will have to leave their families in Buenos Ayres, while they are forced to go to the Gran Chaco, contrary to their will. $300,000 is a big sum for such an undertaking, and with it I think the work would be better carried out if big wages were offered to willing men instead of forcing the poor against their wills. Or, seeing that electricity has done such a lot for us in these modern times, some clever person could surely advise a means by which this dreaded plague could be cleared away.

Justice.

Ed. Note—We doubt if any attempt will be made to call out the population en masse. The mere difficulty of providing food would be almost insuperable. Besides it would be difficult to follow the locusts.

BRITISH CEMETERY.

Sept. 13th.

Mr. Editor.

When 'Vox' last addressed you re British Cemetery, on the 25th. ult., he asked five questions of general interest to non-catholics, but received no answer to any of them. He imagined it was some one's business to answer them, and so he thinks still. He hopes by asking one question at a time to be more successful, so here goes the first:—

Are lots in the new British Cemetery obtainable, and to whom should application be made?

Vox.

A LADY JOURNALIST'S INTERVIEW WITH THE POPE.

A French lady journalist, Madame Sévérine, has had an interview with the Pope and sends a most graphic account of it to the Figaro. She says that though her profession has trained her to be unmoved in most circustances, there is something in the surroundings and the memories they recall which makes her heart beat faster. She continues: "My path lies up the staircase along the monumental gallery where the Swiss Guards are discoursing, still clad like the troopers of Julius II., up the marble staircase of three flights, across halls so numerous that my brain begins to swim, and I hardly know where I am. My turn has come. I enter, bowing thrice. A hand takes mine, and gently raises me. "Be seated, my daughter, you are welcome." Pale, upright, and attenuated, hardly visible, so little remains of material substance within that wrapping of white linen, there sits the Holy Father in a large chair, behind which stands a table surmounted by a crucifix. The light strikes full on the fine face of the Latin Prelate throwing the delicate features into relief—the features of a face vivified, electrified, so to speak, by a mind so fresh, enthusiastic, so valiant for good, so compassionate to bodily suffering that its glance fills the onlooker with wonder. It seems a miraculous dawn hovering over a sunset. The incomparable portrait of Chartrain alone can give an idea of that eagle glance, but even it has too worldly an effect, and all the flaming mass of purple behind the snowy cassock gives the cheeks a gleam and the eye a brilliancy in the picture which are softer in the Pope himself. To explain what I mean, I shall say that I found the Pope more spiritualised, with a personal radiance more benignant, less of a king and more of an apostle. A gentle benevolence, half afraid it would seem, lurks in the curve of his lips and shows itself only in his smile; and at the same time the straight, strong nose reveals the will—the unbending will, one that can wait. Leo XIII resembles a saint in some cathedral window; but what attracts and rivets attention almost as much as his face is the hands—long, delicate, transparent hands. His voice has a far away sound as if it had travelled to a distant country on the wings of prayer and loved rather to soar towards Heaven than to stoop to mortal ears. Nevertheless, in conversation it returns from the Gregorian monotone, with a note in major key. Besides, a mere trifle, a local habit lends his discourse a peculiar savour, a spice of nationality. Though the Pontiff speaks correct and elegant French, at every moment the typical Italian exclamation "ecco" breaks in with its two crackling syllables."

CONGRESS.

THE DEPUTIES.

Dr. Gilbert took the chair at 3.15 p.m.

The Executive sent a message asking leave to connect the public buildings with the Drainage works.

The Petitions Committee reported on numerous demands for pensions.

Deputy Alvarez laid on the table a Bill to reform the granting of pensions, which was referred to Committee.

The Bill provides that, to obtain a pension, the applicant must prove want of means and also the services on which the demand is based.

Dr. Navarre presented a Bill to reorganize the Sanitary Service in the army.

A Committee was named by the President to examine the 'Jubilacion' Bill sent from the Senate for revision.

The Damas de Misericordia Lottery was approved.

$40,000 were voted to finish the Normal School in Corrientes.

The Commercial Treaty with France was approved in general and particular, and the House rose at 4.15 p.m.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Yesterday was far too easy-going for our taste: no sign of Santa Rosa or an earthquake; politics miserably dull; Dame Rumour in bed with gout (a most unusual ailment for a lady) and things in general in a state of as "solemn espectativa" as if another joint stock Company funeral was going on in the Bolsa. To add to our depression of spirits, something wrong in the Editorial Bus was reported: pace too fast for one of the passengers, we hear.

Colonel Baibiene has resolved to accept the Post of Chief of Police of this city, offered him by the President elect.

We made a slight mistake yesterday about Mr. Russell's beer party at the Bieckhert Brewery. It comes off to-day at 2 p.m. on the roof of the building.

We call the attention of the British Cemetery Committee to another letter from 'Vox' in another column. It won't do to leave it a case of 'Vox et preterea nihil'.

We thank Mr. Sidney Stone of Belgrano for sending us some samples of his splendid smoked haddocks. They remind us of Ireland's Eye, off which paradise of an island the finest haddocks on earth used to be caught when we were young and gay. People don't swallow enough fish in this country and get outside too much meat. Mr. Stone, we are glad to hear, intends extending his fish, egg and fowl business to the centre of the town.

President Pellegrini has refused to accept General Mansilla's resignation of his rank in the army; so the service will not lose one of its most prominent officers.

It is considered certain that both Houses of Congress will sanction the reopening of the Lottery, and we shall soon hear the old familiar cries of the street Arabs: "Para hoy!" "Para mañana!" "La grande!"

An English gentleman found in a hackney carriage last night a leather valise with the name "R. S. Pakenham" on it, and has left it with us for the rightful owner, who can have it on proving his identity.

The German steamer Paraguassu has brought 168 cases of war material for the Argentine Government.

Government has named the President of the Contaduria, the Director General of Revenue, and the President of Public Works as a Committee to investigate the charges of the Prensa against the Land and Colonies Office.

The Racing Committee of the Hurlingham Club have completely accepted Mr. L. G. Stuart's explanation of his riding in the Enchantress case on the 8th. inst.

Twelve minutes is now the normal time for the flight of the daily weather message from London to the R. P. T. C. The weather in Modern Babylon was fine yesterday. The Birkbeck Bank depositors fought like Kilkenny cats to get inside for their cash. Here we manage things in a more civilized way. How thoroughly polite that run on the River Plate Bank was last year. No headsmashing: everybody anxious to give the "pas" to his neighbour, and, above all, "place aux dames;" while Mr. Anderson and Mr. Fenessey smiled bland ly on their customers (especially the ladies) and helped the clerks to pay out the money. It was a model bank run; and it may be said, in sporting parlance, that all the depositors had a fair run for their money.

The "endurance" velocipede race which took place in the Camino Goes at Montevideo on Sunday was won by Conrado Pitzer, who did the 25,000 metres in 6.9 min. 23 sec. The second was J. Agurre 70 m. 30 s. and third P.G. Garat 71 m. 8 s. There were five other competitors. The well-known rider J. Ohrt had to withdraw, his machine breaking down.

We had the pleasure of joining some loyal Germans yesterday in drinking the health of their recently arrived Princess Imperial, in the best bock beer from the Quilmes Brewery.

Dr. Rosa Pawlowsky has arrived in the Espagne, which is in quarantine

A plea for shinplasters. Let no subscriber be afraid of even a ton of them in his pocket. We're not. A London paper says:—

"The alarmists who affirmed that the issue of £1 notes would spread disease by acting as the disseminators of germs will be pleased to hear that on two Cuban bank-notes weighing a few grains no less than 19,000 germs of various kinds have been detected by the microscope, and that when some of these—duly "cultivated" in broth, gelatine, and agar—were introduced into the peritoneal cavity of rats and guinea-pigs, most of these animals died within twenty-four hours. 'Ergo' beware of bank-notes and other paper money. However, like the corresponding warning against the lip of the root of all evil, most of us will accept the advice with an internal reservation to the effect that we are willing to take our chances of both mischiefs. If £1 notes are like the larger denominations not issued after they are returned to the Bank of England there is little chance of their getting very foul. But, the Scotch, Irish, and provincial banks have for ages issued £1 notes, which circulate, as does the continental paper money, until they can no longer hold together. Yet we fail to find that epidemics or other contagious maladies are worse there than in England. Theory is one thing and practice totally different—in the germ world."

The resignation of Mr. John Jackson as President and member of the National Committee of Charity, at Montevideo, in which he has lent sterling services, has been accepted. Mr. Jackson is in bad health, and his doctors advise him abstention from all work and business.

There is a registered latter for Miss Kate Rian (Ryan?) at the General Post Office.

A subscriber has called our attention to a grave error on a tombstone in the Recoleta, which he noticed the other day while strolling through the Campo Santo. It is:—

"Born January 1844
Died July 1868
Aged 14 years."

Our correspondent is ungallant enough to hint that the fact of the deceased having been a lady may account for the error. "The ruling passion strong in death."

The news from old Cordoba yesterday puts an end to the dispute about the San Roque reservoir. The constructors and engineers of the reservoir are to be prosecuted at law for scamping the work. The Minister of Government has published a vigorous note on the subject which has elicited unanimous public applause.

Another swindle in the wheat line in Rosario is reported. Name of well-known firm forged by a large buyer of the grain from which the staff of life is made.

A garden party—The gardener.
A French roll—Crossing the Channel.
Suit everybody—Ready-made clothiers.

Proficient, but out of practice—Retired physicians. "Basta!"

This is Mexico's Independence Day, and we feel pleasure in saluting the residents of that nationality. Mexico is looking up in the world of late, and will do well, if our London friends do not kill her with pecuniary kindness.

Bad news, my masters. Foot-rot amongst the sheep in the South, and scab and drought in the North and West. If Santa Rosa does not turn up quickly there will be old Harry, in an ovine sense, at the latter point of the compass.

Times are so hard that it is downright cruel for people to send us letters through the post insufficiently stamped. We had to pay double yesterday on a letter from dear old Quilmes, because the dear old writer could only afford to put on it four cents of stamps. Better post-pone writing to us till times mend, rather than this kind of thing.

The Zoos, the dogs and the Lord Mayor are again engaged in a triangular scrimmage. The dogs object to be poisoned; the Zoos back them up, and the Lord Mayor feels inclined to tell them both to go to the dogs, but official politeness forbids. Meanwhile the dogs are being poisoned.

The whole town is still talking of the Rosales revelations. Yesterday there was a fresh turn in the ugly affair, as can be seen in another column.

The dust in the suburbs and most of the streets is beginning to spoil Spring toggery and inflame the public eyes. The Lord Mayor has ordered the watering carts to go their rounds for the future in the central streets on Monday-Wednesday and Friday; and on the other four days of the week in Avenida Alvear, Palermo Park, and neighbouring streets. This is a very unfair distribution of the dust-allaying "agua," in favour of the bloated-aristocrat section of the population.

Samuel Rogers the poet was a very slow writer. One day several of his friends were talking about him, and one asked whether he had written anything lately. "Only a couplet," was the reply (this couplet being his celebrated epigram on Lord Dudley.) "Only a couplet!" exclaimed Sydney Smith, who was one of the party; "why, what would you have? When Rogers produces a couplet he goes to bed, and the knocker is tied, and straw is laid down, and caudle is made, and the answer to inquiries is that Mr. Rogers is as well as can be expected."

Some gun shots fired by a merchantman entering La Plata port on Tuesday night made every soul in the enchanted city, from the Governor to the Guardia de Carceles, jump in their boots, thinking the era of reparation was at hand. Why the merchantman fired shots in the dead of night is not known. Probably she was aground.

He (rapturously): I wish, Miss Prettyman, I could dance with you like this through life!—She (very matter-of-fact): Do you? You must remember, though, that you would have to pay the piper.

The last number of "Buenos Ayres Ilustrado" is splendid, and has for frontispiece an excellent portrait of Mr Michael Cane. There are several other admirable portraits, amongst them one of Señora Carolina Lagos de Pellegrini. What will most please the ladies (When they are not pleased the world goes wrong) is the flirtation on the last page and the illustrations of "El Primer Baile." The only weak point in the paper is the gentleman who is asking the fair debutante to dance with him. Sweet seventeen or eighteen is generally not difficult to please as to partners

HORSFORDS PHOSPHATIC BAKING POWDER

BARON LIEBIG, the world-renowned chemist said, "I have though a great series of experiments, satisfied myself of the purity and excellence of your preparation. The bread has no acid, is easily digested, and of the best taste. Aside from the conveniences this invaluable idea of yours has provided, I consider this invention as one of the most useful gifts which science has made to mankind. It is certain that the nutritive value of the flour will be increased 10 per cent by your invention, and the result is precisely the same as if the fertility of our wheatfields had been increased by that amount.

ON 'CHANGE.

Wednesday, September 14th 1892.

The gold market opened as firm as a rock this morning and threatened to rise like a rocket, but the premium kept steady and did not advance above yesterday's level; towards one o'clock the speculation looked top-heavy and rates began to waver. The firmness of the market was traced to purchases for Government account; but as these Government purchases take place every week the cause may be considered of a permanent kind and discounted regularly in speculative circles. What few care to acknowledge is that the market at large has been overspeculating on the strength of the advent of the new Government; it is this over-speculation that defeats the bearish campaign.

A month ago the firmness of the gold market was satisfactorily explained by successive shipments of gold and a falling exchange rate; then a powerful cause was discovered in the unexpected election in the Senate and antogonism between Roquistas and Modernistas. Thus the speculative mind always finds a ready explanation for every turn in the speculation, just as to-day dealers fall back on Government purchases to account for the firmness of affairs. The remarkable fact is that for the last three months gold has ruled firm and steady, and a succession of causes can be traced to explain such a situation. We now look to over-speculation to satisfy the minds of those who looked forward to gold at 200% premium this month.

Thirteen thousand ounces changed hands for cash; the price opened at $53.20 and ruled steady at this price nearly all morning, rising to $53.30 near the close of the ring, and closing heavy at $53.20, say 226.88% premium. One hundred sovereigns were sold at $16.48, say 227% premium. Immediately after the ring there were sellers of ounces at $53.10.

Patriotic Bonds were duller and weaker than yesterday; a few thousand changed hands at 73.20. Internal bonds were also dead-and-alive at 67.70 for to-morrow and the end of the month. Catalinas were comparatively dull, rising to 11, falling to 10.80, and closing at 10.90 for cash. The price for the end of the month closed at 11.10. Obligaciones were firm; they rose to 1.30 and closed at 1.20. Municipal Consols regained their quotation at 59. Cedulas were very hard at 30.10 to 30.20. National Cedulas A paper were steady at 98.

Owing to the departure of the mail exchange ruled dull this morning at nominal rates. Discounts continue very easy.

The representative of Messrs Bateman, Parsons and Bateman has called the attention of the National Government to the Bill presented to the House of Deputies providing for the drainage of the Paseo Julio, Paseo Colon and sea-wall of the port works, and urging the necessity of completing these works as soon as possible. Messrs Bateman, Parsons and Bateman beg to state in this regard that some time ago they were requested to undertake these works and that they sent to the National Government all the preliminary among other matters, that the Banco de la Nacion was the topic of lengthy discussion and that there is a decided inclination to liquidate the Bank.

400 lambs were sold this morning at the Tablada at $4 for freezing establishment. Also two troops of mestizo Rambouillet middling condition from the South at 7$ and 7.20 Also 7000 capones from Mr. Hams's Estancia Arrecifes at 7$.

Our colleague El Diario announces that Mr. M. Rivas has bought from Mr. Richard Livingston four leagues of land in Arrecifes for 235,000$. There must be some mistake about the figure.

Messrs. Henry Thompson and Son have started as produce brokers in this market. Mr. Thompson is well known in estancia and produce circles and can rely on the wide support of the market.

The balance sheet of the Banco de la Nacion published this morning was the talk of all the Bolsa, and Mr. Becú and other Directors of the Bank who came on 'Change were warmly congratulated on the very splendid management of this bank as shown by the figures of the balance sheet.

The bank holds over 19½ millions in cash and 5½ millions in bonds of Emprestito 91, which covers the amount the bank has received in notes from the Caja de Conversion. Thus the discounts and general bank business of this thriving concern have been all carried on on the deposits and earnings of the Bank. We hope that the new Government will at once turn this magnificent bank into a joint-stock concern, as it is proved now under good management what it can do; we believe that our new Minister of Hacienda, if it he properly handle this business, will be able on making the bank a joint-stock concern to convert through its medium the whole paper money of the country.

The Curamalan Co. has received per s.s. Wordsworth one thoroughbred stallion and three mares, of which at foot the pedigree.

The well-known sire Zanoni is getting advanced in years, so the Directors of the Curamalan deemed it advisable to obtain a successor who could relieve him of his work and add to the well acquired fame of the Curamalan Stud. Mr. Harold A. Lett, Manager of the Stud, was sent to England with instructions to purchase a well-bred horse for the estancia, and this he has found in St. Honorat, who was sold at the winding up sale of Mr. Hume Webster's well-known Marden Park Stud Farm. St. Honorat embodies the very best blood in England, being a son of Hermit out of Devotion, a mare who has given more winners than perhaps any other up to the present. He has served for several years and some of his progeny are well known on the English turf, while here his daughter Golondrina has distinguished herself repeatedly.

The three mares imported are of good blood and covered by well known sires will prove a valuable addition to the stud which already counts with 42 thoroughbred mares:—

St. Honorat—Chesnut sire, foaled in 1882, by Hermit out of Devotion by Stockwell.

Lauristinus—Chestnut mare, foaled in 1889, by Glendale out of Venus Looking Glass by Speculum, covered by Mr. Hume Webster's sire George Frederick.

Pallium—Bay mare, foaled in 1889 by The Lambkin out of Annie by The Palmer, covered by Sir Bevys.

Sweetsauce II—Bay mare, foaled in 1887, by Sweetbread out of 1881 mare by George Frederick, covered by Sir Bevys.

The English Meat Company continues marching ahead, and the retail demand has so increased that a new service will have to be arranged for families. The mutton the company is selling now is from the far-famed estancia of Dr. Irigoyen, and these capones cost the company 15$½ each, being the highest price ever paid in this country.

We take the following from our weekly colleague Sport and Pastime:

"It is a good sign when prize cattle and sheep are being bought in large numbers at home for exportation to this Republic. The largest shipment of purebred Lincoln sheep that has ever left England, says the 'Live Stock Journal,' was shipped on July 9th by the ss. Jessmore, from Liverpool, which comprises no less than 444 sheep, the chief part of which was purchased from the celebrated breeding establishment of Messrs J. R. and R. R. Kirkham, Biscathorpe, near Lincoln. The gentlemen to whom these animals are shipped is Señor Don Julio Carrie, Estancia Maipu, Buenos Ayres, one of the most enterprising breeders of stock in the River Plate. These sheep have all been selected by Mr Thompson, the manager of the estancia, who has personally visited the sheep breeders and made these purchases himself. The sheep have, in a great measure, been selected for the uniformity and lustrous state of their wool, together with constitution, as it is found that the Lincoln sheep are fast becoming the leading sheep of the Argentine Republic. This is no speculation on the part of Mr. Carrie, as it has been proved a fact that no sheep like the Lincon thrive in such a manner, and with the careful attention they have at Mr. Carrie's large breeding establishment, where there are never less than 5,000 acres of alfalfa, so that should a severe winter or a long dry time ensue, there is always plenty of this magnificent herbage for all animals upon the estancia, and Lincoln sheep do exceedingly well upon it in the winter time."

"Three hundred and seventy-nine sheep were selected from Messrs. Kirkham's flock, and consist of 102 rams, 200 ewes, and 77 lambs, pedigrees given with each animal. The lambs consisted of 37 ram lambs and 40 she lambs. In addition to this number of sheep from Messrs. Kirkham, Mr. Thompson selected 25 choice shearling ewes from the noted flock of Mr. Cartwright, Dunston Pillar, near Lincoln; also 15 magnificent shearling rams from this old breeder. Mr. Thompson likewise took 25 shearling ewes from Mr. W. K. Hayward of Navenby Heath, Lincoln, a very rising breeder, whose sheep have been much noticed of late for their size, symmetry, and wool, both at home and the fairs, and which sheep always fetch high prices. We understand Mr. Thompson is making other large purchases of sheep, horses and cattle, records of which will be duly given. We hartily congratulate Mr. Thompson on the good selection of sheep he has made, as they are pronounced by some of the most competent judges to be the most even lot of Lincoln sheep ever shipped to this country.

"Mr. D. M. M'Lennan, so well known here as an importer of first-class stock, has been making some useful purchases during the past month. Amongst several to arrive in Buenos Ayres on his account we notice Mr. William Duthie's first prize two-year-old Shorthorn bull Baron Bridekirk 3rd, which was champion at Aberdeen, and for which Mr. M'Lennan paid a very large figure. He also bought, at a long price, the second prize Shorthorn cow Colden Gift and the Montrose two-year-old Shorthorn bull Excelsior, which took first prize at Stirling last year.

"For some time past there has been quite a lull, if not an actual stoppage, in the export trade of pure bred stock to this country, and we welcome the arrival of these animals as a sign of good times and increasing prosperity."

Messrs Bullrich and Company sold yesterday three imported Durham bulls; one fetched $350, bought by Mr. Pereira, and the other for $200, bought by Mr. Vivo. These high prices show the great value of thoroughbred stock in this country.

The meeting of the Banco Sud Americano was a very slow affair and the shareholders seem to take very little interest in the affairs of the bank. Mr. Martinez de Hoz was in the chair; the report was read and approved and the following board elected; Messrs Roselli, Leloir, Martinez de Hoz, Ramon Garcia, Justiniano Posse, Martin Viedma, Mariano Ibarraguirre, Síndico, Rudolfo Lagos. This bank, if we remember right, has a branch in London.

Messrs A. Bullrich and Company sold yesterday 15 Rambouillet rams, the property of Lozano Hnos as follows:—1 at $1,050, 1 at 900, 1 at 750, 1 at 700, 1 at 500, 1 at 450, 1 at 420, 1 at 420, 2 at 380 each, 1 at 360, 3 at 350 each, 1 at 270. The lot averaged 507.33⅓ or a total of $7,610. Buyers, Messrs Sola, J Ramos, Otero, Tamini, William Ham, Dr. Molina, M. Fils, Durañona, McGuire, Luro, Morales, and Peramendi. They also sold 3 Durham bulls at 600, 650 and 850⅔ respectively:

The Minister of Finance has fixed the rate of gold at 320 for payment of Customs dues.

We have received from Paraguay a list of prizes, which the Government offers to agricultural colonists starting in that country. It is to be hoped that the ability of the Government is commensurate with its liberality; in such case foreigners starting up there have a greater prospect of competence and independence than in any other country that we know of. The following is the list of prizes:—

Two premiums of five thousand dollars each to him who cultivates an area that produces annually four thousand arrobas of tobacco.

Two premiums of one thousand eight hundred and seventy five dollars each to him who cultivates a superficial area that produces annually fifteen hundred arrobas of tobacco.

According to numerous testimonials which we hold the extract of pure tobacco is the only infallible remedy to radically cure the scab in sheep and naturally the cheapest. As there are several trade marks like ours care must be taken to see that the extract bears the key marks, without which it is not genuine.
